MINISTER'S REPORT

The Annual Report of the Dominion Minister of Agriculture for the year ended March 31, 1948, is now available for distribution. This Report, in addition to reviewing the year's work generally, outlines the activities of the various services of the Department in scientific and experimental work, and in production, marketing and administration.

As much of the material of direct interest to farmer readers has been published in Departmental bulletins and through the press, the Report is likely to prove more useful to libraries, farm organizations and field workers as an easy source of reference. Copies may be obtained from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

WARBLES REDUCED

The Warble Campaign has been underway for a little over a week. The response has been fair, but not near as good as we had anticipated for the third year, and also due to the fact that this is an exceptional spring. The cattle that have been sprayed for two years hence are almost free of the grub and appear to be quite comfortable and contented. The cattle that were treated last year and not the year before are in better condition than those treated the first year and not last. I think this is very good evidence that we are closing in on the pest, but if we do not get better co-operation I feel that we are defeating the purpose. This is a definite economical value in treating your cattle for warbles, but it does seem unfair that one farmer should be persuaded to treat his cattle when his neighbors just next door flatly refuse.

When we look at the life cycle of the warble fly we find it is very important that the cattle should be sprayed before going out to pasture, because the grubs that drop on the pasture are the ones that are going to do the damage and not so much the grubs that drop in the feed lot. The warble fly only lives for a very short period of time and doesn't migrate much over a half mile.

I would like to suggest then, that those farmers who have treated their cattle make it a point to see that their neighbor isn't missed. You do your part to see that they want them sprayed and we will do our part by seeing that the equipment is available. The roads are good and we are able to move around comparatively easy so try and keep us busy until the end of April.

FARMERS CAN TEST THEIR SEED

To harvest good field crops, good seed must be sown. Often seed is obtained from the local dealer, but many farmers use their own home-grown seed. The quality of seed is important, and a seed test will show any undesirable conditions which may result in a crop failure, or introduce and spread troublesome weeds.

There are two main seed tests: for purity and germination. In a purity test the seed is examined to determine the kind and number of weed and other cultivated seeds. The germination test shows the proportion of crop seeds that may be expected to produce normal plants.

In making a purity test the seed should be thoroughly mixed so that it is representative of the whole quantity and a pound should be used for the actual analysis. This should be spread on a clean surface in a good light, and be carefully picked over and all foreign seeds removed. These should be named and the number of each kind recorded. If identification of some is impossible they may be sent to the nearest Seed Laboratory of the Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

ment guide the tractor so that the one-way is placed properly in the furrow and the front disc is cutting an inch less than the others. Now if the tractor is not where you want to operate, unhook the tractor and place it in position. The tractor is usually run

In checking the sample the general quality of the seed and the uniformity and size of the kernels should be noted to decide whether the seed should be re-cleaned. If any noxious weed seeds are found it is advisable to use other seed.

In a germination test, seed may be germinated in clean sand, soil, or on blotting-paper, absorbent paper, or cotton bannel. Generally two hundred seeds are germinated. They should be well spaced if in sand or soil, and rolled up if in cloth or paper. Ordinary room temperature is suitable for most kinds of seed and they should be kept moistened throughout the test. Clovers counted in five days; corn and peas in eight days, and cereals in twelve days, and only strong, healthy sprouts should be included. Many seeds, especially those which are injured or frost-killed may grow a small sprout which would not produce a normal healthy plant. Seed should germinate over 90 per cent if it is to be used for planting.

AGRICULTURAL SERVICE BOARD

On Thursday the Agricultural Service Board of the M.D. Wainwright met at Wainwright. Recommendations arising from the board include assistance in organizing range disease testing and vaccination. The Field Supervisor was given a program conducting Warble Fly spraying again this year putting out demonstration plots for weed control conducting field and road side demonstrations of the use of 2, 4-D spraying with his regular district weed inspection, supervision of condemned farms and supervision work on the control of the five bad weeds.

Soil Bacteria
Beneficial bacteria are present in all soil the world over. There are at least 8,000,000,000 bacteria in a teaspoonful of average farm soil. These bacteria are the friends not the enemies of man. One of their most important uses is to convert unavailable plant food into compounds that are soluble in water. In solution this plant food can be absorbed by plant roots.

Soil Conservation
Water erosion is taking as big a toll of our cultivated soils in this area as wind does to soils in the south. The difference is that we do not see the soil running off our fields in the spring or during the heavy summer rains in the same way that we can see soil drifting. One farmer in this district is planning on contouring his land to prevent this loss of good soil. There will be many more to follow his example in the years to come.

The Farm Wife
Down in Minnesota a Professor has figured that a farmers wife, if a good one, is worth $69,000.00, maybe more. The D.A. has for free distribution, applications on raising poultry, bee keeping dairy farming etc.

2-4-D FOR THE CONTROL OF WEEDS IN GROWING CROPS

Farmers considering the use of 2-4-D to control both annual and perennial weeds in growing grain crops should carefully consider the time of treatment, the kinds of weeds to be treated, as well as the rate and formulation of 2-4-D to be applied. Says H. C. Friesen, Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Sask.
The time of treatment, whether sprays or dusts are to be used, is of first importance. Since weeds are easier to kill with 2-4-D when very young and since they acquire varying degrees of resistance as they approach maturity, early treatment is essential. Cereal grain crops, however, tend to show some susceptibility to 2-4-D until they have been up through the ground for a period of not less than three weeks.

Treatment should not be made until after this time. Flax on the other hand, develops resistance to 2-4-D very soon after emergence, and treatments should preferably be made as soon as the flax plants have formed four or five leaves. Treatment after cereals are in the shot blade or flax is in the bud stage, is not recommended. 2-4-D is because weeds will already have robbed the crop of large quantities of moisture, at which time only poor kills may be expected from even very heavy dosages. In addition, the application of 2-4-D to flax in the bud stage is liable to result in a severe reduction in seed setting and crop yield.

Weeds differ greatly in their reaction to 2-4-D. Of the common weeds treated during the early growth stages, wild mustard, stinkweed, tumbling and ball mustards are very susceptible. Russian thistle, lamb's quarters and red-root pigweed are susceptible, while wild buckwheat, cow cockle, and the grasses are resistant to 2-4-D.

The top growth of perennial weeds such as Canada thistle, perennial sow thistle, wild morning glory, and field bindweed, can be controlled successfully in growing crops by treating as soon as these weeds have emerged. This is usually at the time when annual weeds should be treated, and so only one treatment is required for both types of weeds. Rates of application for good top growth control of perennials should be from 4 to 8 ounces of 2-4-D acid per acre. Under poor growing conditions such as drought

Father: "What are your young man's intentions, Susie?" Susie: "Well, daddy, he's keeping me pretty well in the dark."

"You old drunken beast! If I were in your condition I'd shoot myself."

"Lady, if you was-h in my condition, you'd mish."

"I always lie awake for an hour after going to bed, and this gets on my nerves. Can you suggest a remedy?"
"Go to bed an hour later."

"I doubt if your eyes are strong enough to get you a driver's license," said the optician. "Sit here and tell me how many letters you can read on the number plate of that car outside?"
"What car?" said the would-be motorist.

PRODUCTION OF BROILERS
OF QUALITY

The profit derived from the marketing of poultry at the 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pound broiler stage depends, mainly, on the length of time required for the birds to reach the desired weight and consequently on the amount of feed which they consume in so doing, says A. B.
Johnson, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Other things being equal, a rapidly growing bird reaching the required weight in twelve weeks will be a better proposition than one taking thirteen weeks or more. The amount of feed consumed per day by the former will be more, but its efficiency will be greater and total feed costs will be relatively less.
Rations have been devised which are high in proteins and vitamins and result in very fast growth. One of these is the Connecticut broiler ration which has produced birds averaging 3.3 pounds for both sexes, and as high as 4.3 pounds for cockerels at twelve weeks.

The broiler industry which has been increasing rapidly of late, will have to rely on the consumer appeal which it is able to establish for its permanency.
In the past, the market for broilers has been developed to a much greater extent in the United States than it has in Canada. If the situation is to change materially in this country the broilers produced for such a market will have to be of exceptional quality.
Having considered the matter from the fast growth rate, the next question is, what are the characteristics of a good broiler? Probably the first requirement is good fleshing. This is somewhat difficult to attain in a young bird and is one reason why White Leghorns are not as popular as other breeds for use as broilers. Probably some of our crossbred stock shows most promise in this respect and especially where some Cornish blood is introduced. Work at Ottawa has shown that crosses involving some Cornish blood have materially improved a breed, such as White Leghorns, for broiler production.

In order to have eye-appeal, a bird must also carry a reasonable amount of fat. In a young fast-growing bird this is often difficult to attain, but experience shows that it is in fact with the right kind of ration. It is not possible to fatten a broiler to the same extent as a roaster but a moderate even distribution of fat under the skin produces an attractive bird, and also results in more cents per pound in the pocket of the producer. It must be remembered that broilers are subject to the same grading regulations as other classes of poultry.

There are other factors to consider in aiming at top quality. One of these,
of course, is straightness of feet.
Crooked keels, which may develop, usually after 9 weeks of age, may be prevented to a large extent by the use of roasts about 4 inches wide instead of narrower ones, assuming that the ration is adequate. Attractiveness of carcasses is also enhanced by freedom from pin feathers and the latter are largely avoided by using a fast-feathering strain of birds. Also a white feathered bird will result in a cleaner looking carcass than a dark feathered one. With the above requirements fulfilled, and the birds properly dressed, a producer will be in a better position to obtain top price for his broilers and will be working in the right direction for stabilization and expansion of this phase of the poultry industry.

FEED BARLEY FOR
THE OPEN PLAINS

Making a decision on a variety of barley to grow is an important one.
On the open plains, the variety must yield well in dry years. It should be a good combine barley and should have smooth beards or be beardless. Resistance to smut and ergot is also important.

Yield, of course, is important because it means more bushels per acre.
Some varieties give good yields when there is plenty of moisture but yield poorly when it is dry, says A. G. Kusch Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask. O.A.C. 21 and Montcalm two standard malting varieties, are varieties of this type. As the majority of seasons on the open plains tend to be dry, these varieties are, as a rule, unsuitable from the yield standpoint.
A good combine barley is one which will not drop its head readily nor shell easily when ripe. This is an important consideration on the open plains where almost all harvesting is done with a combine.

A beardless barley or one with smooth beards is much more suitable for a feed barley than a rough bearded one. Rough beards tend to stick in animals' mouths and throats where they cause sores to develop.
Smut, although not harmful, affects the palatability of a feed barley and ergot is very undesirable because of its poisonous qualities.

Titan, a smooth bearded variety of barley has yielded well under dry conditions, is resistant to smut and is a good combine barley. Warrior, a beardless variety, is also suitable, but because parts of the heads cling to the kernel when threshed, it contains more dross. Vanguard is a rust resistant variety which yields well under dry conditions and is a fairly good combine barley. It is, however, susceptible to smut. None of the varieties mentioned are resistant to ergot.

FARM NOTES
FROM ABROAD

English Wheat

At December, 1948, the estimate of winter wheat acreage in England and Wales was 1.53 million acres compared with 2.02 million, the estimate of the year before. Areas in winter barley and oats were also somewhat reduced.
The overall target for the United Kingdom for the 1949 wheat harvest is 2.5 million acres, or roughly 2.8 million for England and Wales.

Explanations offered for the decline in acreage are, confusion as to what the Government wants the farmer to grow, the fixed price for all kinds of wheat with no premium for efficiency, and lack of storage space and difficulty in dealing with combine deliveries.

World Grain

Preliminary figures of the 1948 harvests, as compiled by FAO show that world production of the chief food crops, excluding Russia, has exceeded pre-war volume and has caught up with the corresponding increase in population. The aggregate harvest of wheat, rice, maize, barley and oats in 1948, represent 547.7 million metric tons, an eleven per cent increase over the 1934-38 pre-war average and matched a corresponding increase of world population since 1938.

Cream for Britain

The British Ministry of Food is considering the possibility of lifting the present ban on the manufacture and sale of cream, which has been in effect since 1945. As milk production has improved to the extent where all but all previous records, producers are preparing for the time when milk will not be quite so easy to sell and a luxury item such as cream will be available to consumers. The various authorities concerned are discussing proposed standards for cream.

1948 FARM INCOME
MAKES RECORD

Canadian farm prices during 1948 were 29 per cent higher than during 1947, says the latest issue of "The Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada", published by the Economics Division, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The Review then points out that since prices of commodities and services used by farmers, including living costs, increased by only 16.4 per cent during the same period, the farmers were better off in the long run. Heavy marketing helped to improve their position as well.

The preliminary figure of the net income of Canadian farmers in 1948, is $1,141 million, an all-time record and an increase of 41 per cent over the 1947 figure of $1,235 million.

The overall demand in 1948 is expected to equal that of 1947, according to the Review, although there may be some decline in the export demand for some farm products. Domestic demand for farm products in 1948 may exceed that of 1947 and prices received by farmers are expected to remain at the 1948 levels, though there may be some decline toward the end of 1948.

In spite of strong market demand, hog and cattle slaughtering in the first two months of 1949 were lower than during the first two months of 1948, but lamb slaughtering were up by 50 per cent and prices for all classes of livestock at the beginning of February, 1949, were stronger than one year ago.

Although prices were higher, sales of fluid milk and cream for the last three months of 1948 were 8 per cent below the same period in 1947. Butter stocks in storage were lower than a year ago, but increased production during the winter months of 1948-49 partly offset this situation. Apple exports showed a 59 per cent increase up to the middle of February, 1949, over last year.

FARM LAND VALUES

The average value of occupied farm land in Canada in 1948 is reported at $19 per acre, an increase of 31 per cent over 1947. According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, increases of 1948-49 average, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Increases over 1947 levels were reported in all provinces with the exception of New Brunswick.

PLAN GARDENS TO SUIT HOUSE

Fashions in gardening change to keep pace with changing architecture and habits of living. When sidewalks were shelled by hand, snow could be pushed onto the road or thrown over the hedge. Today, with mechanical snow removal, a hedge planted less than eight feet from the sidewalk suffers a ragged fate and a hedge eight feet back on the lot simply cuts it in half. Hedges are used less today than formerly.

The so-called "Functional" architecture of modern homes calls for different lines in drives and paths, different foundation plantings and different arrangement of floral decoration.
Efficiency and set form is required rather than the sweeping "grace" and softening effects of earlier decades.
Yet, though this is a time of change, natural laws are constant. They cannot be disregarded or changed, but intelligent plant forms can be chosen to create the new effect. It simply means that people have to change their point of view about favorite plants for certain situations, says R. W. Oliver, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The trend is toward the emphatic line of straight approach rather than the sweeping curve; of set form, rather than ornate and graceful detail.
Foundation plantings, instead of aiming at "softening effects", strive to emphasize horizontal lines and doorways, taking the form of trimly clipped hedges or flowers planted to create set masses of color. So the old flowering shrubs with festooned arching branches are superseded by horizontal and low rounded forms that stand clipping and have attractive foliage.
Such plants as Japanese yew, privet cotoneaster and Korean box or dwarf barberry are taking the place of old favourites, if economy is a strong consideration the native cedar can be clipped to almost any desired form provided that a start is made with young plants.

Most people want more relaxation from their gardens, with less work and less variety in horticultural specimens. Perennial and annual flowers fit into the scheme best if they are used in larger groups of the same variety to create bold low effects of color against the background of uniform texture provided by a clipped hedge.
The need is still to create a suitable setting for the house, but it is a different house with a new look. There is also, the desire for a suitable setting for an outdoor fireplace, table and chairs with just enough ornamental material to provide privacy, create color and tie the whole lot into a picture that seems to keep.

JAN.-FEB. CATTLE MARKETINGS DOWN

Inspected slaughter of cattle in Canada for the first two months of 1949 was 194,411 head as compared with 224,771 for the same period in 1948.
Also during the two months of 1949 a total of 21,281 cattle have been exported to the United States—12,741 head of beef cattle and 8,540 dairy cattle.
Exports of dairy cattle for January-February last year were slightly less at 8,134 and of course no beef cattle were shipped to the United States before the middle of August 1948. Thus total marketings for the first 2 months of this year were 215,692 as against the 246,792 for last year or a decrease of 12.2 per cent for the two months. The greater part of this decrease has occurred in Western Canada with the first remaining nearly steady.

The quality of the cattle slaughtered in Canada has shown a marked decline, as indicated by the carcass grading which is carried out in accordance with the national beef grading standards. During January and February this year the gradings showed 8.1 per cent A grade or Choice quality and 14.4 per cent B grade or Good quality, as against 12.1 per cent and 19.3 per cent respectively for the same period of 1948—a drop of about 10 per cent in the two best grades combined.

This was accounted for by an increase of nearly 7 per cent in C grade (medium steers and heifers); 2 per cent in D1 grade (plain steers and heifers), over 2 per cent in D2 (common cows) and nearly 2 per cent in M and S grades (canners, cullers and bulls). Good cows were down 3 per cent this year.

A recent inspection of the beef grading throughout Western Canada showed that many potential A and B quality carcasses were being graded down because of lack of finish.

OFFICIALS DISCUSS NEWCASTLE DISEASE

Newcastle disease in poultry has not become widespread in Canada, and so far only five cases have been reported involving eight plants.

This was the report of a representative of the Health of Animals Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, at a recent meeting of the Canadian Committee on Newcastle disease, held at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont. The Committee is made up of representatives of poultry producers, and scientific workers and administrative officers of both Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

The Committee endorsed the plan of the Health of Animals Division, to continue the slaughter policy with quarantine in infected units, but to augment this with the use of killed virus vaccine in poultry plants that are sufficiently large to allow complete segregation of infected units from other poultry buildings. "In these larger plants the application of the slaughter policy would be limited to the houses in which infection was found."

Throughout the entire discussion it was emphasized that efficient control of this disease was possible only when any outbreaks are reported without delay. Such reports should be directed to the local representative of the Health of Animals Division, or forwarded to him through a local veterinarian, an agricultural representative, or a provincial laboratory.

Does oil help pay your taxes?

Oil may not actually pay your taxes—but it helps.

Seven million dollars—equivalent to about $37 for each family in the province —was collected by the Alberta government in oil royalties, rentals and bonuses alone in the 1948 fiscal year. Actual taxes paid by the oil industry added much to that total. And '49 promises even larger revenue.

Then there's the increasing prosperity brought by the new oil finds and the growth of industry which means work for more people—and more people to share the provincial tax burden. The Alberta oil industry is spending one hundred million dollars this year on equipment, land, buildings, supplies and payrolls. That's almost $2,000,000 a week! It can and does support new industries—and more employment.

Meanwhile, the new discoveries have kept oil prices down in Alberta and Saskatchewan. This means savings not only to users of petroleum but to everyone—because it means lower cost production on everything from agriculture to heavy industry. So you'll have more money to pay your own taxes!

All this has come about because new oil was found in Alberta. And that oil was found because there were people who were willing to take a risk looking for it.

Bringing you oil is a big job—and a costly one

In the Legislature

By W. Mason, M.L.A.

The House adjourned late Tuesday night when His Honour, the Lieutenant Governor gave his assent to one hundred and twenty-eight Bills.

An amendment was made to the Marriage Bill before the House which prohibits restaurants from selling alcoholic beverages.

An amendment to the Setting of Police Act will enable the Game Commissioner to distribute approved poison for the purpose of exterminating coyotes and wolves.

A joint meeting of all those interested in reducing the number of these predators is being called shortly by the Honourable N. E. Tanner for the purpose of working out some program which will be more effective than the bounty system in controlling these predators.

An amendment to the Child Welfare Act provides that every Municipality shall appoint its own welfare workers.

It is thought that in many municipalities this responsibility will be delegated to the Municipal Secretary, in most municipalities, this does not involve a great deal of work.

A Bill was passed allowing the Lieutenant Governor in Council to spend money up to two million dollars under any agreement that may be reached with the Dominion Government on the development of irrigation projects.

A similar Bill was passed relative to a Trans-Canada Highway. These Bills will enable the Alberta Government to take advantage of any Dominion proposals. This Province will not have to wait until the House is in Session to take advantage of any such program.

An amendment to the School Act permits the School Board to transfer principles from one school to another and any disputes that may arise will be settled by reference to the Minister of Education rather than to a Board of Reference. Another amendment amends all dates of the notices of termination of contracts. Appeals by Municipal Councils to school requisitions must be made within thirty days of receiving such a requisition.

Three important Bills were introduced by the Honourable N. E. Tanner in connection with the division of the Department of Lands and Mines and the setting up of the new Departments, Department of Lands and Forests and the Department of Mines and Minerals.

The Honourable N. E. Tanner has been appointed Minister of both Departments with John Harvie as Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests and T. N. McKinnon as Deputy Minister of Mines and Minerals.

The establishment of the new Departments was made necessary as a result of the rapid development of oil and other resources.

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my thanks to the Editor of this paper for carrying these reports during the sitting of the Legislature. If you have gathered worthwhile information from these accounts I am sure that you recognize that it has been made possible through the cooperation of your local paper.

Zacharias and his students the opportunity of defending the cup which they won last year. During the intermission four girls, Bonnie Swenarck, Margaret Patton, Maxine Mason and Sylvia Hall, sang.

The regular monthly meeting of the Community Hall Club was held at the home of Mrs. E. Strome. The club decided to sponsor an old-time dance at the hall on May 24th, in aid of the hospital. It was decided to again sponsor the "tag day" for the Institute for the Blind in September. Names and committees for the next six months meetings were arranged.

THE FIRST EASTER MORN

By Rev. W. E. Sieber

O Risen Master, blessed Lord, Who art by highest heaven adored: The wrath of men thou didst not flee But gav'st thy life on Calvary's tree.

Things was the crown of thorns: the Cross With all its sorrow, thine the loss: Thy foes had planned thy sure defeat By driving nails through hands and feet.

On thee they loosed their hellish blast, And pierced with spear thy side at last: While pardon from thy lips did flow For those who struck this brutal blow.

Deep darkness veiled the noonday sun To mourn this evil man had done! A borrowed tomb thine only grave, Thou, who hadst scorned thyself to save!

They took thy body, dead and cold, Laid it in tomb for death to hold: What grave could hold the Lord of Life He must rise victor in the strife!

The Sabbath past: the rising sun! In glorious splendour looked upon To see in risen glory come The Saviour from his borrowed tomb.

In Joseph's garden mid the trees, The flowers and the vernal breeze, Disciples found their risen Lord: O, with what joy their spirits soared!

With them he stayed full many days, Filled them with courage, strength and grace: To all the world their faith he sent To tell how death's dark veil was rent.

A fair field for man was born When Christ on that first Easter morn His power of life o'er death did show, On man eternal life bestow.

Manitou Agricultural Impt. Association Hold Meeting

(Too late for last week)

PARADISE VALLEY

At a meeting of the Agricultural Improvement and Conservation Committee of R.M. No. 442, held on March 26th, the following business was dealt with:

1. That if the Council considers the Provincial-Municipal contract for Bang's disease testing, we recommend a provision to the contract whereby the testing be followed immediately by calfhood vaccination.

2. Committee member H. P. Gores reported that the council had granted one mil towards the spraying of Toad Flax over and above the cost of the Hardee sprayer.

3. The present chairman and secretary are to retain their offices for another year.

4. Tentative plans were made for holding public meetings throughout the various divisions in the municipality to acquaint the ratepayers with the weed control program. It is hoped that these meetings will be held before seeding operations become general.

5. Some time was spent discussing the applications received for the position of operator of the weed sprayer. The committee selected three applicants, placing them first, second and third choice; the applications to be submitted to the council for their decision. The committee strongly recommends that the accepted applicant be authorized as weed inspector.

6. The committee was instructed to determine the number of dams and "cuts" desired by ratepayers. If a large enough program could be arranged the committee will contract a Provincial contractor and the work would be done at reduced rates.

7. The Secretary was instructed to write the Agricultural Representative regarding several matters pertaining to old business.

8. Miss Phyllis Lawson returned Saturday from Three Hills where she was attending a missionary conference.

9. W. DEY RECEIVES WORD OF DEATH OF HIS MOTHER

W. Dey received a cable from Huntly Scotland, that his mother had passed away on Saturday, April 2nd, at the age of ninety years less two months. A daughter at Huntly is the only other member of the family living.

10. Write the Agricultural Representative regarding several matters pertaining to old business.

11. The weather during the past week has been far from spring like. We are having real March weather, lots of wind and dust. Let us hope that it does not take all the moisture out of the land.

12. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Galsford and Iris have gone back to their farm after spending the winter in town.

13. We regret to hear that William McLean has been a patient in the Lloydminster Hospital for the past week.

14. The Valley Maids C.G.I.T. held their regular meeting at the home of Beatrice Krugness on Wednesday evening. The girls appreciate the kindness of those who furnished cars to take them out.

HOG MARKETING

Hog marketing during January and February of this year declined by just under 40 per cent compared with the same two months of 1948. The actual figures are $36,399 hogs in 1948 and 1,095,168 in 1948. Marketing in western Canada declined 50-65 per cent and in eastern Canada 80-90 per cent.

Marketing in the first two months of 1949 declined in all provinces. In Saskatchewan by 80.5 per cent; in Alberta by 51.3 per cent and in Manitoba by 49 per cent. The province of Ontario showed the smallest rate of decline—only 24.3 per cent, and marketing from Quebec province were down 24.3 per cent.

Of the total marketing during the first two months of 1949 of $36,399 hogs, 62.1 per cent came from Eastern Canada, and only 37.9 per cent originated in western Canada.

Onto the pure all things are pure.

DARK AREA SHOWS CANADA'S 10TH PROVINCE

During World War II Newfoundland was a strategic site of importance Canadian and U.S. bases for the Battle of the Atlantic and the struggle to get supplies to Britain for the invasion of Europe. The island virtually spans the mouth of the St. Lawrence river, vital 2,000-mile inland waterway that links the Atlantic with the Great Lakes.

N.Z. DAIRY FARMS IMPRESS CANUCKS

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—Canadian experts recently have expressed interest in advances being made in dairy and sheep farming research in New Zealand.

So impressed had Dr. W. E. van Steenburg, research adviser to the Canadian department of agriculture, been with the progress of research that he has recommended to his government that two scientists should be sent to New Zealand for a year to study what is being done. Dr. van Steenburg visited New Zealand as a delegate to the Pacific Science Congress.

High praise for farming developments here was also given by Prof. D. G. Laish, of the University of British Columbia.

"To me it is phenomenal," he said, "what has been done in this country in the dairy industry. At home, if we can run a cow to two acres, we think we are doing very well, but here you aspire to a cow per acre or better."

There are also other good signs of spring too. The Hutsaville teacher and pupils are playing softball. Lloyd Baynam has laid down away and is driving the Ford to work. Wendell Hineshaw has taken home a new Ford tractor, Tom Mansell is buying bricks, C. Sigurdson is cleaning sheep, grain and C. D. Cargill and his neighbor just south of him have been wondering if they shouldn't get busy and do something.

Miss Helen Stone of Brunford, Ont. is home on her holidays.

Mr. Lionel Turcotte who has taken over the Goodall farm is busy these days getting settled. We now have two bachelors in the district on the same street.

The sale here of the farm of L. Fahner was well attended, and the first sale this spring and everyone was out for a bargain.

Mr. Tom Mansell is now busy building a chimney on the Stone house and we understand he is soon leaving for Provost where he will spend the summer working at his trade.

We say Lethbridge sporting a different car this spring, no more wide open spaces for him.

The municipal road grader has been on the job and the roads throughout the district are first class shape. We are now hoping to see the gravel trucks down this way sometime this summer getting the roads ready for a school bus.

Manitoba has provided the first residential Normal School in Canada capable of housing sufficient students for replacements in the teaching profession.

HEARTIEST EASTER GREETINGS

A pretty girl, attractively surrounded by traditional Easter lilies, comes forth with a smile to give you a heartwarming Easter greeting.

EASTER MEDITATIONS

by Rev. W. E. Stuber, Golden, B.C.
A new surge of life sweeps over the earth at this season of the year. Nature pulsates with new vigour as the vernal breezes and the warming sunshine touch earth with their magic. Life, dormant in the earth during winter's killing regime leaps forth with new freshness again.

Life and Death! Two mighty forces that are in constant struggle with each other. Oft it seems to us as though death were always the victor over life in this struggle. But in reality victory belongs to life. And endless procession of living things pass continually before our review. Life, not death, is the predominating force on this earth. Easter proclaims the fact that life is supreme and that its issues lie in the hands of the Creator God.

Life and death are only two of the many opposing forces we find in nature that create struggle and tensions both within and without ourselves. And it lies not within the scope of human powers to harmonize these forces.

That first Easter morn, Mary, and others who loved their Master, went into Joseph's garden with leaden feet and sad and heavy hearts. They came forth from the garden as though borne up on angel's wings. The unbelievable had happened! Their Master had overcome death! He was no longer among the dead where they had sought for him, but he was alive!

Amid the beauty of new-blown flowers; the bursting buds of the almond trees; the joyous song of the birds peeping among the branches—there, they found him—the Lord of Life—risen from the dead.

Yes, man builds tombs in the garden he beautifies the graves of his loved ones only to sense that they are not really dead, but only hidden from him by a thin covering veil, and are with him—the Lord of Life.

What though these little particles of clay that God has so skillfully blended to make the human body should dissolve and decay, that which is the life within the body continues apart from the body.

The first Easter morn lifted man's belief in immortality out of the realm of theory and speculation, and placed upon it the stamp of God's eternal purpose and reality.

Life is not a dream that ends at the grave. Death is not the end of that dream; it is the restoration of divine life to the soul that has been imprisoned within the body here upon earth.

That is the heart of Easter—God's answer and assurance to man's longing for immortality. No other concept of Easter is fine enough and worthy to sustain the dignity of man as he believes himself to be the crowning work of God's creation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Text: Jesus Perian Ministry, Mark 10:13-16, 35-40. Memory Selection: "The Son of man . . . came not to be served but to serve, and to give life as a ransom for many." Mark 10:45.

Mark 10 is a great chapter. It reports teachings which are at the very roots of our Christianity.

First, Jesus expounds the divine law of marriage. The Pharisees brought to His attention the bill of divorce which Moses allowed and asked His judgment on it, and Christ answered: "That Moses tolerated this on account of the hardness of their hearts." He adapted the law to the condition of the people. Seeing that they were incapable of rising to the ideal system, he gave them the regulations which would ameliorate conditions then existing and secure the rights of womanhood as far as was then possible. But that was not the Creator's original intention. He made human beings, male and female, each for the other, each of the complement of the other's nature.

Second, Jesus' love for little children has changed the spirit of humanity. Wherever the name of Jesus is known children are loved, cared for, trained in the ways of God. Robert E. Speer once told this story. He and some friends had been visiting his Church's missions in Persia, and on their journey back they stopped at a wayside inn for something to eat. It was a windy day, and they noticed a little lad round a corner of the building watching them as they ate and drank. He was in rags and looked cold and hungry. On inquiry they learned that he was waiting in the hope of draining the cups out of which they had been drinking and of finding a morsel of food. The visitors asked the proprietor about him, and got this gruff reply: "He is not my child and I'm not responsible for his support." It turned out that he was the son of the proprietor's wife by a former marriage.

Dr. Speer at once bought a small suit for him and gave it to the boy's mother and with it some money for food. He said that starved and shivering child was to him a type of suffering childhood in pagan lands. Another party of missionaries saw some children playing happily near a big building in a non-Christian country, and ventured the guess that they belonged to a Christian institution. Their guess was right.

The climax of our lesson is reached in verses 35 to 40. Two of Jesus' followers wanted positions of honor in the Kingdom. Jesus in reply pointed out the way in which rulers of this world lorded it over their subjects and made men the means for the service of their personal ends. So it shall not be among you said Jesus. In the realm of love, greatness is measured by our capacity to serve. The greatest shall be the one who can do most in the service of their fellows, and emphatically not the one who can compel the largest number of people to serve him. Thus follows Jesus' supreme statement of His own law of life: "The Son of man came not to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."

OATS, BARLEY, STAY UNDER SUPPORT—OIL CROPS WITHDRAWN

It has been announced by the Minister of Trade and Commerce that the existing floor prices for western oats and barley will be maintained for the 1949-50 crop year. The floor prices for oats and barley produced in western Canada are—1½ cents a bushel for No. 1 feed oats, and 90 cents a bushel for No. 1 feed barley, both in store for William or Fort Arthur. The Minister emphasized that these are support prices only and producers will have the advantage of whatever higher prices prevail during 1949-50. Announcement was also made that the Government is withdrawing price support from the oilseed crops—flaxseed, rapeseed and sunflower seed, because of developing surpluses of seeds and oils. "Under the circumstances," the Minister said, "the Government is not prepared to encourage the production of oilseeds by establishing support prices for 1949-50. The position will be examined again at the beginning of the next crop year."

In Canada the parole system was first adopted for penitentiaries in 1889 and was later extended to include jails and reformatories. In this respect the Canadian parole system differs from every other in the world.

The witnesses were Miss Mildred Frenz, now of Edmonton and Mr. Harry Alwood, brother of the groom.

After the ceremony wedding dinner was served and the toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Geo. A. Steele, the officiating minister, to which the groom made a fitting response. After dinner a number of parcels were opened and the wedding gifts displayed. Cameras were in evidence during and after the ceremony.

A goodly number of guests were present and generous were the expressions of congratulations and best wishes for the future happiness of the young couple who will reside on the farmstead a little north of the groom's former home.

Dorothy Styler Wed At Metiskow
A pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, April 6th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Styler, north of Metiskow, when their only daughter Dorothy was united in marriage with Mr. John William Alwood, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Albert Alwood, south of Edgerton. The witnesses were Miss Mildred Frenz, now of Edmonton and Mr. Harry Alwood, brother of the groom.

After the ceremony wedding dinner was served and the toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Geo. A. Steele, the officiating minister, to which the groom made a fitting response. After dinner a number of parcels were opened and the wedding gifts displayed. Cameras were in evidence during and after the ceremony.

A goodly number of guests were present and generous were the expressions of congratulations and best wishes for the future happiness of the young couple who will reside on the farmstead a little north of the groom's former home.

There's a little man in the United States who sets a record every time he hits the finishing line first. Thirty-eight year old Johnny Longson has $1,000,000 in the bank from the racing season with 2,222 victories and $7,981,775 in prize money.

About once every two minutes or an average of 30 times a game this well-matched character guarding the goal has to try and stop a hard-rubber disc travelling sometimes at a speed of 90 miles an hour. Or perhaps, he has to dive into a scramble of flashing knife-like blades to stop the puck from entering the net.

Actually, he is a highly specialized athlete with skills required of few other men in sport. He must have almost instant reflexes and amazing speed to stop a puck three inches in diameter from entering a goal six feet wide and four feet high.

A scramble of players obscures his vision most of the time, skates attack and bodies deflect the puck unpredictably and the speed and direction of the puck sliding along ice is deceiving. One of the game's best-known men, Lester Patrick, once estimated that the goalie is 70 per cent of a team's strength.

Mrs. A. Lavold of Lloydminster spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fleck.
